

Photovoltaic panels can generate electricity and provide insurance

Overview

---

Yes, most homeowners insurance policies do cover solar panels, but the extent of coverage depends on several key factors including how they're installed, whether you own or lease them, and your specific policy terms. Coverage varies dramatically by installation type: Roof-mounted panels are typically covered under dwelling coverage with higher limits, while ground-mounted systems fall under “other structures” coverage limited to just 10% of your dwelling coverage—potentially leaving expensive systems. Adding solar panels to your home is a major investment, and protecting that system starts with understanding solar panel insurance. Department of Energy's National Renewable Energy Laboratory (NREL). Homeowners insurance typically offers protection against certain risks — often called perils — such as theft. Here are some things to know about insurance coverage and home solar panels. Rooftop solar panels that are permanently attached to your home may be protected under your home insurance policy's Dwelling Coverage. Not all policies are the same, and certain situations could leave you.
